

Founded in 2000 with just two attorneys, Greenberg Traurig's Denver office has grown to over 70 lawyers. In a 2019 joint statement announcing their new office space, Denver Co-Managing Shareholders David G. Palmer and Michael G. McGinnis noted, "From a strategic standpoint, our new office is designed to enable flexibility, improve efficiency, and provide collaborative space to facilitate teamwork."

Greenberg Traurig

Client Objective

Greenberg Traurig's growth in Colorado led them to move to a new state-of-the-art office space in downtown Denver. Their new 41,000 sf office occupies 2 floors in the first new Class-A office tower that rises into the Denver skyline in over 30 years. The 40-story tower was built by Hines and completed in 2018

NTI provided the design services for the project which was managed by NTI's parent company ASD, Inc. Their Denver office is one of 41 locations in the U.S., Latin America, Europe, Asia, and the middle east, which collectively employs approximately 2,100 attorneys.
